John:

I need help with this one. I have held it overly long and I am not sure how to react.

You probably are aware of the fact that
[] is the NPIC man working on Project ASPIN. As part of this project [] did a survey within the Center on the handling of documents in the Center.

[] gave a copy of his draft to []
to review, who in turn passed it to me. I gave it to [] who has reviewed it. The PPBS judgment is that although the study is not a very good one, and there are minor errors, that there is nothing here that will cause any great difficulties when the report is published.

Pending your approval. I would propose to pass the draft back to leaving the PPBS comments clipped to it and suggest to Tom that he point out those areas that might need improvement or further clarification.

DIRECTOR				al There are some corrections that could be made in paper (see clips) but none are significant "hookers". Make this assessment partially upon the corrections themselves, but probably more against the backdrop of the overall paper — which I consider to be poorly done and of little value. 6.

Ed:

Attached is a draft of paper on NPK that will be included as part of the ASPIN Report. I wonder if you would mind reviewing it to see if there are any hooks. I rather we may comment if we have violent objection.
